

Answers to Questions from Reporting for BSA Summer Camp Programs Webinar

Is there any way for when there is a specific item checked (ie food allergy) that it could send that specific registration to someone?

No, we cannot send emails based on the values of certain form values. You can create a custom report based on the value. To use your example of a food allergy field, you can create a report of registrants who indicated they had a food allergy. You can then send the report to staff who need to be informed about campers with food allergies. If you need to communicate with parents and guardians of campers with food allergies, you can create a Communications Center email and select the custom report to use as the recipient list.

Can a field be entered in custom reports that shows when a certain registrant was registered? I know it shows when the registration was created and when it was last updated. Would be nice if we could see when each registrant was registered

There is a value called RegistrantCreateDate that contains the date and time the registrant was added to a specific event.

Is there a report that just has registrant's form information?

No, you would have to run View Registrations – All Registration Information to view form information.

Is there a report that can have a registrant and what they are signed up for in each session event group?

The value called RegistrantCreateDate contains the date and time the registrant was added to a specific event.

Instead of using parent ID can you do a custom report where the "event" left column equals "x" ?

You can build filters on the "Description" fields that return specific session events.

What is the logic behind parent id equals 0---resulting in only showing the program event?

The ParentID contains the activitykey of an events parent activity. For instance, the activitykey for Week 1 of camp might be 2345123. The parentID for all classes belonging to Week 1 would be 2345123. Since Week 1 of camp does not have a parent activity, its ParentID would be 0.

Is there a place that have the recordings of the other 2 webinars that have happen already?

All Webinar recording can be found under the Training Videos link after you log into Doubleknot.
