The “Scouting @ Home” Concept

A one-stop shop for Scouting and non-Scouting families alike to find quality age and grade specific character-building activities at home.

How to Use This Resource

Print and use our Certificate of Achievement to immediately recognize your children for any program or task completed on this webpage. Registered Scouts BSA members must get Scoutmaster approval to work on Merit Badges.

Advancement-Related Activities

Non-Scouting and Scouting families alike are invited to print and use our Certificate of Achievement to recognize their children for accomplishing any task, Cub Scout Adventure or Scouts BSA Merit Badge listed on this site. Parents of registered Cub Scouts can also use the certificate, then send a digital copy to your unit for official advancement record-keeping.

Note to Parents of Registered Cub Scouts and Cub Scout Leaders, the National Director of Cub Scouting has issued the following statement during the COVID-19 response:

“We have approved that all Cub Scouting requirements for all ranks, including Webelos and Arrow of Light, may be approved by the parent, legal guardian, or other adult family member. In addition, Cub Scouts may continue to work on their badge of rank and adventures for that rank through June and July [this year]. They are not required to [take advantage of this extension], we just want to provide additional time for those who may need it.”

Activity Instructions

1. Do the Activities in the Adventure for your rank as outlined below. These are actual Cub Scout Adventures for the Advancement program, but have been rewritten to be completed without leaving home.
2. Print the generic Certificate of Achievement, writing in the name of the Adventure and your child's name.
3. For recognition purposes, proudly display your Child's Certificate, or if your child is a Cub Scout, send it to your Unit Leader for Advancement purposes if they have not yet completed that Advancement.
4. With regard to any information you don't know, simply look up the information online.

Merit Badges and their Workbooks Conducive to Working at Home

MERIT BADGES: for Boys & Girls 11 years and older.

Young people can learn at a meaningful level about many topics by working on Merit Badges. On the next page is a list of Merit Badges with requirements that you can work on at home. If you are a Scouts BSA member, work with your troop leadership to identify a registered adult Merit Badge Counselor so that you can officially earn the Merit Badge for your Scout advancement.

Remember: Don't just complete the workbook . . . if it says "Demonstrate" or "Show", you must actually do the requirement.
